

TRANSITION TOWN KINGSTON

creating a resilient and sustainable community together

Transition Town Kingston is a community-based movement helping to raise awareness of climate change and encouraging the transition to a low-carbon future. We aim to build a resilient local community by:

- Educating and campaigning about the climate crisis;
- Exploring and facilitating alternatives to fossil-fuel-based energy;
- Challenging oil-dependent transport, and promoting and lobbying for sustainable alternatives such as cycling...;
- Encouraging sustainable food production and wiser consumption;
- Supporting practical projects and activities such as community gardening, harvesting and juicing unwanted fruit, skill-sharing, repairing, upcycling and reusing...;
- Organising events and workshops to foster waste reduction, a circular local economy, permaculture, energy-efficiency, personal resilience...;
- Sharing information and news via our website, Kingston Green e-Directory, Twitter and Kingston Environment News;
- Celebrating cooperation, collaborations, friendships and successes.

"... If we wait for the governments, it'll be too little, too late. If we act as individuals, it'll be too little. But if we act as communities, it might just be enough, just in time."

Rob Hopkins, Transition movement founder, in What is a Transition Initiative?
